ELLIS EVES, President.

A. N. YOST, Secretary.

S. J. Conner, of Briarcreek, called for explanation of the item "expenses salaries, &c., fair of $2886.53." The items were given and were mainly as follows: officers, $715; policemen and watchmen, $779; printing and advertising, $407.47. Mr. Conner then moved that the salaries of officers except that of secretary and treasurer be reduced one-half. The salaries of officers was then read: President, $75; Vice-Presidents, each $50; Secretary, $125; Treasurer, $100; Librarian, $50; Auditors, $3 per day. Amendments were made to increase the salaries. After some discussion it was resolved that all salaries remain the same as heretofore.

Nominations were made for president. John Deily and I. Hagenbuch chosen tellers. The result was as follows: Ellis Eves, 101; John S. Mensch, 62. Mr. Mensch's name was not printed on the ticket, so all who voted for him wrote his name.

A motion was made that a vote be taken on the entire balance of the ticket. H. V. White, W. W. Barrett and Harry Hartley were appointed tellers. While the tellers retired to count the vote the committee on By-Laws gave their report. The report was accepted and the society proceeded to adopt it by sections.

W. M. Monroe made a motion that life members be furnished annual tickets free. This was discussed at length, and a committee consisting of W. M. Monroe, Frank Ikeler and Freas Fowler appointed to consider the question and report at the next annual meeting.

The following is the vote as cast. Those marked with a * were elected:

The following are the new By-Laws adopted by the Society.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE 1—NAME.

The name of this Corporation shall be the Columbia County Agricultural, Horticultural and Mechanical Association.

ARTICLE 2—OBJECTS.

The objects of this Association shall be to encourage the arts and sciences, to foster and improve Agriculture, Horticulture and Mechanics.

ARTICLE 3—MEMBERS.

SECTION 1. The Association shall consist of such persons as shall signify their wish to become members and shall pay to the Treasurer or some other properly authorized person or officer of the Association an initiation fee of one dollar or more as hereinafter provided.

SECTION 2. The initiation fee of new members shall be paid on or before December 1st to entitle such member to vote at the annual election following.

SECTION 3. Whenever a member shall appear by the books of the Treasurer to have paid ten dollars in annual dues, he shall become a perpetual member and be thereafter exempt from the payment of annual dues. Provided that said sum of ten dollars may be paid at the option of the member, either all at once, or in any sum annually not less than one dollar until the whole be paid. And provided also that any member who has already paid in the sum of ten dollars as appears on the books of the Treasurer shall be placed on the list of perpetual members.

SECTION 4. Every perpetual member shall be entitled to a certificate signed by the President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Association, which certificate shall set forth that said member having paid the sum of ten dollars in annual dues has hereby become a perpetual member of said Association.

SECTION 5. Certificates of perpetual membership may be transferred on the books of the Association and the Srcretary is hereby authorized to make such transfer, and to issue a new certificate to the person named in the transfer to be endorsed on the old certificate on payment of the sum of one dollar to the Association.

SECTION 6. No member who is in arrears shall be entitled to a membership ticket for the current year.

SECTION 7. The previous payments of any member who is now or shall become in arrears for two successive annual dues shall be forfeited to the Association and the Treasurer is hereby authorized immediately after each annual meeting to strike the names of all such delinquent members from the roll. Such person after having forfeited his membership can reunite with the Association and become a member thereof by complying with all the conditions and requirements governing his original entry to membership. The sum so forfeited shall not be included in making up the ten dollars required for a perpetual membership. This section to take effect June 1, 1894.

ARTICLE 4—OFFICERS.

The officers of this Association shall be a President, four Vice Presidents, a Treasurer, a Secretary and a Librarian.

ARTICLE 5—EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

SECTION 1. There shall be an executive committee which shall consist of the officers of the Association and three members to be elected by the Association at the same time and for a like term as the said officers.

SECTION 2. It shall be the duty of the executive committee to transact the business of the Association generally; shall superintend and direct the publication of such of the reports and transactions as they may deem proper; shall designate the time for exhibitions, regulate the expenditures, and keep such general charge of the affairs of the Association as may best promote its interests.

SECTION 3. They shall select their own chairman, and meet quarterly, and at any other time when convened by their chairman. Six members shall form a quorum.

SECTION 4. An auditing committee shall be elected annually by the Association who shall examine the accounts of the Treasurer and Secretary and report on the same at the next meeting.

ARTICLE 6 -- DUTIES OF THE OFFICERS.

SECTION 1. The President shall have a general superintendence of the affairs of the Association. In case of the death, resignation or inability of the President to perform the duties of his office, the executive committee shall select one of the Vice Presidents to act in his stead, who shall have the same power and perform the same duties as the President until the election.

SECTION 2. It shall be the duty of the Vice Presidents to take charge of the affairs of the Association in their respective districts, to advance all its objects, to call upon farmers to report the condition of agriculture in their neighborhood, modes of cultivation adopted by different farmers, and make known, as far as possible, all such matters as may be interesting to farmers and mechanics in general.

SECTION 3. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to keep an account of all moneys paid into his hands, and shall pay all bills when approved by the executive committee. Each order for payment must be signed by the chairman of the executive committee and the Secretary. The Treasurer shall give such security as the executive committee shall demand.

SECTION 4. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep the minutes of the Association and of the executive committee, and to attend to such correspondence as the business and intereste of the Association shall demand.

SECTION 5. It shall be the duty of the Librarian, to take charge of all books, pamphlets, &c, belonging to the Association and shall act as Curator, to preserve seeds, implements, and property of the kind the Association may possess and to grant venders privileges during the fairs.

ARTICLE 7—SALARIES.

The salaries or daily pay of all officers shall be fixed by the Association at each annual meeting.

ARTICLE 8—MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

The Association shall meet annually on the third Saturday of January, at the place designated by the executive committee, when all officers of the Association shall be elected by ballot, (no person being allowed to vote except those holding membership tickets or certificates of perpetual membership) for the ensuing year, and until another election. At least two weeks public notice must be given of these annual meetings by the executive committee.

ARTICLE 9—SPECIAL MEETINGS.

Special meetings of the Association may be called by the executive committee when necessary, of which at least two weeks' public notice must be given.

ARTICLE 10—QUORUM.

Twenty five members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; but no member in arrears at the time of the annual meeting shall be entitled to vote.

ARTICLE 11—AMENDMEMTS.

These By-Laws may be altered or amended at the annual meeting in January by a vote of two-thirds of the members in attendance and voting, provided that the notice for amendment be included in the call for the meeting.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

At a meeting of the county commissioners Friday of last week the following resolutions were passed:

"Resolved not to pay any items of indebtedness contained in the auditor's report until further action."

Resolved to furnish at the cost of county the office furniture, books and stationery required for each, saving excepting that no printed or other blanks required by such officer shall come within this resolution, and the commissioners further resolved that the said county officers before being furnished with said furniture, books and stationery shall make application to the commissioners in writing, setting forth in detail the furniture, books and stationery required by them.

That the county statement be published in the COLUMBIAN, the Sentinel and the Republican at $45 each, and a sufficient number of supplements be prepared for all the other county papers who wish to furnish their readers with the same.

The dwelling house at the Catawissa bridge was leased to Mr. Achey for one year from April 1st, 1894; he to take care of the bridge in consideration for the rent of the house.

On Tuesday a debt statement was made and presented to the court, asking permission to issue bonds to the amount of $70,000 as follows:

50 of	$ 200	each	$10,000 due Jan 3,	1902
10 "	500	"	5,000 " " "	1903
20 "	500	"	10,000 " " "	1904

20 "	500	"	10,000 " " "	1909

Interest payable annually at 4 per cent. clear of taxes.

The new board of County Commissioners at Sunbury and Northumberland are not slow to show up the misdoings of the old board. They have opened the books, probed all the accounts and discover that since January 1st, 1891, the expenses exceeded the revenues by nearly $50,000.

BUSINESS FAILURES.

William Neal & Sons, and I. W. McKelvy Succumb to the Stringency of the Times.

The firm of McKelvy Neal & Co. was one of the oldest and best known in this section of the state. They operated the Bloom Furnace, and a general mercantile business for many years, and did a prosperous trade. More than twenty years ago the firm dissolved, and William Neal & Sons took the furnace property, and I. W. McKelvy who was a member of the firm, took the store, William McKelvy retiring. Among the matters assumed by I. W. McKelvy were the debts of the old firm, which were considerable, but he thought he could manage them and undertook to do so. This was one of the mill stones that has been hanging about his neck all through his business life, but which he could have handled but for other burdens. He has met with loss after loss, until finally the failure of William Neal & Sons last week was followed by an investigation of his own financial condition and he was compelled to make an assignment. It is not necessary to enter into details. The records of the court show that judgments and mortgages exceeding $70,000 have been entered, and his debts will take all his property.

The failure of W. Neal & Sons was brought about by the long continued dullness in the iron trade, and by a number of failures of parties who were heavily indebted to them. The furnace has been blown out, and will not start up again. Judgments and mortgages have been entered against them for a large amount, and will sweep all they own.

The Neals and I. W. McKelvy have been the leading business men of the town, and have always encouraged every enterprise that was intended to benefit the community. Their business transactions have always been fair and honorable, and they have enjoyed the respect and confidence of everybody. Their failures are spoken of with one universal voice of sympathy and regret, and a gloom has been cast over the town. The exact amount of assets and liabilities are not yet known.

THE EVANGELIST.

Mrs. Grace Weiser Davis, the eminent woman evangelist, will assist Rev. W. G. Ferguson in his Evangelistic services in the Methodist Episcopal Church. The first service will be next Sunday at half-past ten o'clock. The press speaks of her in the highest terms. Scranton Tribune says she assisted the pastor of Simpson Church and that "the church has been the scene of a series of most interesting and successful meetings which have been productive of inestimable good. Persons who have heard her speak are charmed with her earnest convincing methods and we do not wonder at her great success." Mrs. Davis was born in York, Pa., converted at the age of eight years. For a number of years she taught in the public schools of that city. She has spoken in most of the large cities of the land. At her various meetings it is estimated fully twenty thousand persons have professed conversion. A Long Island paper says the singing of Mrs. Davis is something grand. She has a powerful voice under thorough control, and full of expression, and the fifteen minutes service of song each evening is a rare treat to all who have heard her. One of the New York daily papers says "when Mrs. Davis was at Washington Square Methodist Church she was pronounced the best lady evangelist in the field. She presents truth with such sweetness of temper and persuasiveness as to avoid being offensive and repellant; and yet she has won thousands to Christ."

COLLECTOR HERRING.

Senator Grant Herring expects to take charge of the office of collector about the first of February. The office will remain in Scranton until the necessary arrangements can be made for its transfer to Bloomsburg. The applicants for positions under him are pouring in with each mail. There are dozens for each place and all seem to think they are especially entitled to the place. It will be some time before any appointments are made, as the Senator expects to move slowly in making his selections.

The Mears Manufacturing Company have started operations under new management. They are advertising the Perfect Washer extensively and expect soon to have employment for all the men the plant can accommodate. The Perfect Washer is a great seller. It is the leading washer of the day.

"The Young Man away from Home" is the subject of this address and is one that will interest every young man. These practical addresses on the "Young Man" have already attracted the attention of a large number of young men, who have crowded to the rooms from Sunday to Sunday, and have been benefited and helped. Don't miss the next address, bring other young men with you.

RESOLUTIONS.

At a meeting of the Bloomsburg Chapter of the Agassiz Association, held on January 19, 1894, the following action was taken:

Whereas, one of our early members, Hervy V. Grotz, has been removed from us by death, we desire to enter on our minutes a tribute of our affection for him.

We recall his interest in all that related to the Agassiz Association and his cheerful fulfilment of his duties as Carator.

And we shall ever associate him with all that has been so pleasant in the history of this Bloomsburg Chapter.

LOUIS BERNHARD,
ANNA T. LEVERETT, President.
Secretary.

The directors of the Farmers' National Bank met last week to consider the resignation of their cashier, Mr. Frank Ikeler, when the following was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved: That the Board having received the letter of resignation of our cashier Mr. Frank Ikeler, do here by accept the same with great regret. We desire further in the severing of these official relations which have always been the most cordial to express our high appreciation of his valuable service, and also note the faithful and conscientious manner in which he has discharged all the duties of his position during the three years he has been with us, and we extend to him our best wishes for his future welfare and success."

The public Installment of the G. A. R. Post 135, Orangeville on last Saturday night was a success notwithstanding there was a concert in town. The Post realized about $25 in the sale of oysters. E. J. Bowman followed with a very eloquent and beautiful address of about 15 minutes that was highly appreciated by the veterans and their friends.

The town council of Milton have voted to pay their firemen fifty cents an hour while on duty at fires, and also an annual allowance of ten dollars for each member.

BRIEF MENTION.

About People You Know.

Mr. Judah Boone is visiting friends in Bloomsburg.

C. H. Moore, the newly elected County Surveyor will move to Bloomsburg this spring.

E. A. Rawlings sold his slaughter house lot to Wm. Ferguson for fourteen hundred dollars.

E. W. M. Low was elected president of First National Bank, Tuesday, in place of I. W. McKelvy, resigned.

Harry Houck has accepted a position as stenographer and typewriter in the office of Revenue Collector Herring.

H. V. White, James O. Warner and A. N. Yost attended the agricultural meeting held at Harrisburg. The former as a trustee of State College and the latter two as representatives for the Columbia County Agricultural Society.

Mr. Jones of the firm of Jones & Walter, of Jonestown, who have purchased the boot and shoe store of F. D. Dentler, was in town Tuesday, looking up a dwelling house, in which to move after the first of April.

Nelson J. Brunner of Muncy has been visiting his sister Mrs. E. C. Wells. He was a former resident of Bloomsburg and was a member of the "Iron Guards" Company A. Sixth Pennsylvania Reserves.

A. H. Bloom has been elected Cashier of the Farmers' National Bank to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Frank Ikeler. Mr. Bloom has been lately employed in one of the Banks at Wilkes-Barre, and has had considerable experience in that work.

H. R. Grimes Robbed.

For three years H. R. Grimes has been free from burglarious raids, and he had begun to hope that he would forever be exempt from the levies of these undesirable visitors. But sometime between midnight on Saturday and daylight Sunday morning he suffered another visit at their hands.

A gang of six tramps had been loafing around the vicinity for several days, and Mr. Grimes made up his mind that they contemplated paying him a call. Saturday evening he took extra precautions in securing the doors and windows, but retired with many misgivings. Sunday morning about seven o'clock he discovered that the store had been raided during the night. The doors on the canal side of the store had all been tried, but without success, and an entrance effected through the window over the scales. The shutter had been wrenched from its fastnings with a powerful claw bar, used on the railroad for spike pulling, and the window glass broken. Through this opening one of the burglars entered and opened the door, when the entire stock was at their mercy. The dog in the store, a particularly cross and noisy little fellow, never made a noise, or if he did, not enough to give an alarm.

At first glimpse it looked as though they had made a big assessment this time. Goods were thrown upon the floor, drawers were pulled out and their contents turned topsy turvy, and the whole stock had evidently been given a thorough overhauling; but a careful examination showed that they had carried off only $100 worth of stuff, consisting of clothing, tobacco, cigars, candies, boots, and a few notions. The burglars disappeared without leaving a clue about the place as to the direction in which they went.

But, on this side of the river, down along the Penna's. track, between the station and the tank, a new plug of tobacco was picked up by some one, and as it was a brand kept in this section only by Mr. Grimes, it is safe to presume that the raid was the work of the tramps who make their headquarters at the tank.

This is the third time the store has been burglarized.—Catawissa Item.

A meeting of the stockholders of the School Furnishing Company was held Friday of last week when the following directors were elected: A. Z. Schoch, L. E. Waller, J. L. Moyer, C. M. Creveling, C. W. Neal and P. S. Harman. The directors organized by electing the following: A. Z. Schoch, president, John Aikman, secretary, N. U. Funk, treasurer.

Street Commissioner Housel has nearly completed the grading of East Third Street. It is now open for travel. The opening and widening has made a great improvement in that part of the town.

FIELDING ON BUSINESS.

He Gives a Few Tips Appropriate to the Hard Times.

Why Should a Man Be Poor Unless He Insists on Being Honest, When Games Like These Can Be Played Any Day?

[COPYRIGHT, 1894.]

I take a deep interest in business. It possesses for me that fascination which always attaches to the mysterious unknown. Personally I haven't business sense enough to lie to a tailor. When I get a publisher's check I tell my wife the size of it; and, in fact, there's no hope for me in a business way.

But though destitute of that happy faculty which makes some men rich, while, by a curious coincidence, those about them are poor, I can appreciate it in others. Nobody is quicker than I am to recognize that faculty, and keep out of the way of it. For instance, I was in a publisher's private office the other day when an elderly man with tangled black hair and a loosely folded cotton umbrella ran to the door. He was closely pursued by a long-legged office boy, but the race is not always to the swift. The elderly man effected an entrance.

"My dear fellow," said the elderly man to the publisher, "lend me one hundred thousand dollars."

That was his pleasant way of starting the conversation. Of course he did not really need the money. He simply desired to attract attention. The publisher felt in his vest pocket. He did not find the sum mentioned, but tucked the corner of a dollar bill further down, so that it would not show. Meanwhile the elderly man continued:

"I've just got hold of a rare book."

"One that the author got paid for?" I suggested.

"Rare, very rare. Dictionary of literary dialect. Think of the difficulty of compiling the work. Nobody ever heard of these dialects except the authors, and most of them have starved to death. So, as the thing is practically out of print, it can't be duplicated ever in this world. It will be very useful to you in your business, if the fashion for that sort of thing comes round again. I'll sell it to you for a dollar because I'm just a little short to-day."

EXCELLENT VENTILATION.

Well, it looked reasonable, and the publisher went down into that vest pocket. He came up, with that dollar, and the elderly man quickly retired. Then the publisher detained me with honeyed words till lunch time. He had a pretty good business head, too, and, as the dollar happened to be the only one he had, he invited me to lunch, and I settled the bill. But the point is, that when we emerged from the building where the publisher's office is located, we found a man on the edge of the curb selling books. He had only one work but his barrow was full of copies. It was the Dialect Dictionary, and he was selling it for five cents. The elderly man had bought a copy on his way in.

Now, that's what I call business all around, for when I had got a little wine into the publisher I sold him a story of sea bathing on the Jersey coast, though it was then past the middle of December, and when he had sobered up he simply changed the scene to the Sandwich islands, robbed my characters of half the little clothing I had bestowed upon them, and made a good thing out of the story. The public paid for the dictionary, the lunch and the story, and why shouldn't it?

If tips like the above can help people along in these hard times, I say that it's a man's duty to give them. I get hold of lots of those games here in New York, and I'm too charitable to keep them to myself. Some of them are played on me and others come to me in the night watches. There's no time so good for thinking of business. Nothing in this world can make a man feel so mean as lying awake at night. I've been kept awake by a cold lately.

Speaking of that cold reminds me of another business scheme which I discovered recently. When times are dull it's the man of a single trade who suffers. The man who sells firewood and fans is busy the year round.

Well, I went to see a doctor about this cold. He asked me where I was living, and I told him the truth, for I really meant to pay his bill. But I couldn't see how the question properly bore upon the state of my health.

Then he asked me how many rooms I had in my flat.

"One room, one closet, two cuddies and a niche," I replied; "but what has that got to do with—"

"What rent do you pay?" he inquired.

"Forty dollars a month."

"It's too much."

"I agree with you; but as to the state of my health—"

"Look here," he said, "you'll never be well in such a place as that. Now you just come with me around to the corner of Ashbarrel avenue and Mudd street, and I'll show you some flats that will make your eyes stick out."

He clapped on his hat; grabbed me by the arm, and hurried away. When we reached the flats, we found that the workmen had not yet put in the doors and windows. The plastering on the walls was not dry, and didn't seem to be making any reasonable effort in that direction. It was a discouraging day for drying—one of those days when it snows perpendicularly, if you don't carry an umbrella, and horizontally, if you do.

"Talk about sanitary conditions," he said. "What do you think of that for ventilation?"

I was bound to admit that it seemed ample. The snowflakes which came in at the front, went clear through the flat except when they hit me. With a handkerchief in each hand, I explained to the doctor that, as I had a cold—

"Come around to Thirteenth and Coffin streets," said he. "Perhaps this doesn't exactly suit you. I'll show you what you want."

I followed my medical adviser. We reached an imposing structure at last, and climbed many stairs. We passed a tenor, a domestic difficulty, a piano, a bull fiddle, a baby and a boiled dinner, and on the seventh floor we halted. Through a scuttle above our heads I could see that the heavens were directly over us, but, though substantially ready both in body and spirit, I decided to pause before ascending further.

"This top flat is vacant," said the doctor, "and you'll like it. The rent is forty-seven dollars, but you don't have to pay it the first of the month. You can pay it the last of the month before, if you want. The landlord is an easy man. What's this? Door locked? Well, well, I'll have to run around to Sharkey street and get the key. Sit right here and wait for me."

He left me sitting on the top step. The snow filtered through the scuttle and fell soft and moist around me, while the boiled dinner came up from below and turned the pure snow flakes green around their edges. I was irresistibly reminded of my own contact with the world.

The next thing I remember is sitting in the doctor's office.

"As I understand it," he was saying, "you've decided to take Thirteenth street flat, and—"

"Doctor," said I, weakly, "I'll take some of your medicine first, and if that doesn't kill me I'll try one of your flats. I should like a prescription written by the author of 'Called Back,' and the louder the call the better, for I'm pretty well along."

He was touched. He wrote me this prescription:

Quininae Sulph. gr. x.
Spts. Frumenti quan. suf.
P. S. Look at the flats over the drugstore. You may like them.

"Will you have these separately or together?" asked the obsequious druggist.

"What does the prescription call for, anyway?"

"Whisky and quinine."

"Do you mean to say that that medicated sugar-coated real estate agent charged me five dollars for recommending whisky and quinine?"

IN THE WIGWAM.

"That is what he prescribes."

"Well, I won't take it. I wouldn't touch it if I knew it would cure me. I'm going to take a wigwam sweat."

"What's that?"

"Why, you fill a big pan with New England rum, and set it afire. You put a chair over the pan. Then you drink half a gallon of the rum, and sit down in the chair. You hold up a broomstick and your wife builds a tent of blankets around you, making a wigwam—a sort of little house, you know."

"Speaking of little houses," said he, "I know a nice little house around the corner that can be had for—"

"What! are you in it, too? Good day to you, sir."

I went home and took the wigwam sweat. When I got too hot inside the wigwam, I stuck my head out between the blankets and related to Maude the experiences of the day.

Until that moment I had not believed that there was any business in the doctor's scheme. Alas, when shall I learn to understand women? No sooner had I spoken of those flats to Maude than she was filled with a desire to see them. The more I ran them down the better she liked the idea of taking one.

HOWARD FIELDING.

AN APPETIZING MEAL.

Render Your Dishes Tempting by Giving Them Pretty Garnishings.

Much of the attractiveness of a meal depends upon the embellishment of the dishes, and when we consider how economically this can be done, there is really no excuse for the lack of tempting details, unless the busy mother and housekeeper finds her day full of other duties.

Ten minutes' supervision of the dishes before they are sent to the table is all that is required to add a bit of greenery, a slice of lemon, a golden-hearted ring of egg, and see how appetizing the simplest meal will become.

"But in winter," says some one, "green garnishes are so scarce. There is apt to be a sameness in this line. What is one to do?"

Think a moment. Have you ever livened up some prosaic dish with a leaf or two of crisp, crinkled-edged lettuce—the kind furnished us during the cool months? This is a fancy charming enough to please the most artistic-minded person at the table. Celery tops, shredded cabbage, curly bits of crests and parsley springs, each in turn, may take their place upon the meat or vegetable dish, and commonplace viands will gain a festive air.

A young housewife, wishing to have on hand a nice supply of green garnishes, fastened to the sill of a kitchen window having a southern exposure two boxes, in one of which was a luxuriant bed of parsley, while in the other flourished curled cress.

As for vegetables, try turning them into garnishes. Fill in the center of your meat dish with a brown mound of potatoes fried in ribbons, surround this with chops of meat-balls, and scatter here and there a tender sprig of parsley. Another appetizing mode is to enfold each chop in a small lettuce leaf.

Soups, that would otherwise be but slightly relished, become favorites when a few squares of crisp brown toast—called by the French "croutons"—are added.

Knowing your own pantry possibilities and the contents of your market basket better than any outsider, think up some furnishings yourself with which to embellish your table dainties, and you will find that no matter how simple are your efforts, they will be rewarded.—Golden Days.

DRESS FOR CHILDREN.

It Is Easily Made and Produces a Very Good Effect.

Miss Minnie Bollermann, who has been an operator and saleswoman in New York for the past six years, has designed a simple dress for dolls, which she thinks mothers may find suitable for a small child. It is cut in four parts, but may be cut in only one piece if time counts more than the slight waste of material, as to busy mothers it sometimes does.

Directions for cutting the dress are as follows: Measure the length from neck as long as desired, allowing for hem, slope slightly, and about one-fourth from upper portion cut off corner for shoulder. Make sleeve portion as full as desired and slope same as a shoulder. Join as shown in cut. Turn in or face at neck (which is left perfectly square) and gather to fit. Added gatherings are admissable.—St. Louis Republic.

Concerning Visiting Cards.

Ladies' cards are governed by the following rules: A married woman in society, especially with daughters, should always use the prefix "Mrs." Widows and maiden ladies often prefer to use the simple name without prefix; fashion dictates otherwise. A young lady in society, having passed her first season, should, if the eldest daughter, use simply, for instance, "Miss Bothwell." If a younger daughter, she should use her Christian name in full. In her first season a debutante should engrave her name below that of her brother, her individual card not appearing till the second season. On visiting with her mother the name of a daughter may be engraved below that of her mother; if separate, her card should always be left with her mother's card. The same applies to a plurality of daughters, the names being grouped.

Some Kitchen Measurements.

One quart of wheat flour is one pound. One quart of corn meal weighs 19 ounces. One quart of butter, soft, weighs 14 to 16 ounces. One quart of brown sugar weighs from a pound to a pound and a quarter, according to dampness. One quart of white sugar weighs one pound. Ten medium sized eggs weigh one pound. A tablespoonful of salt is one ounce. Eight tablespoonfuls make a gill. Two gills or 16 tablespoonfuls are half a pint. Sixty drops are one teaspoonful. Four tablespoonfuls are one wineglassful. Twelve tablespoonfuls are one teacupful. Sixteen teaspoonfuls, or half a pint, are one tumblerful.

A Hanging Pincushion.

To make a pretty and novel hanging pincushion cut two pieces of cardboard the shape of a large pansy. Cover them with violet silk and paint one in pansy colors. Lay wadding between, sprinkling it with orris root. Overcast together, sew lavender ribbons to the top and stick a halo of small English pins around the edges.

Consumption

may be avoided. It comes from a germ that takes root and grows only when the System is Weak and Lungs are affected.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, with hypophosphites of lime and soda, overcomes all the conditions which make consumption possible. Physicians, the world over, endorse it.

Coughs, Colds, Weak Lungs and Emaciation pave the way for Consumption. SCOTT'S EMULSION cures them and makes the system strong.

The Distress in Chicago.

Towards the close of the World's Fair daily meetings of the unemployed were held around the Columbus Monument on the Lake Front. One day a riot at the very portal of the City Hall was quelled by the police. Then work was given to all of the unemployed who would accept it, or could accept it, on the big drainage canal. After the fair closed thousands of idle men emerged from somewhere—sprang up from under the granite streets, it seemed; poured in to the city from neighboring towns on the south, north, west, and east. These men had no place to sleep, nothing to eat. In sheer humanity the City Hall was given up to them, and night after night, since the middle of November, the great corridors of the building and its stairways of iron and stone were turned into dormitories—hard beds, but warm ones, at least. The homeless, the hungry, cried aloud, and the peace of the city was disturbed. The churches discussed the advisability of throwing open their edifices to those who had not whereon to lay their heads, but this movement was abandoned. Why, no one seemed to know. Then a crank in a suburban town issued a printed circular calling for twelve thousand armed unemployed men to meet at a certain hour at the Columbus Monument, go up into the city and take what they thought they wanted.

This odd and highly impracticable suggestion crystallized the movement for the relief of the poor, and a general committee of the rich men, called the Central Relief Association, was formed. The churches and their representatives in the ministry got together, and set to work at once in organizing societies and committees for investigation and relief. At that time the City Hall was the public dormitory, and a visit there at night was like a walk through a potter's field of unburied dead. The air of the main corridors became corrupt, and has not yet been purified, although the lodgers were forbidden to enter a fortnight ago. The Central Relief Association worked hard, and soon had a great soup kitchen on the Lake Front at the foot of Randolph Street. Here are fed daily about four thousand persons. This establishment does not undertake to lodge the poor, but it feeds them. No restrictions are placed on the applicant. He may fill himself there once, twice, or thrice a day, as he wishes. And its fires are burning incessantly. In other parts of the city are seven establishments in which the needy are fed and lodged. All the outlying feeding stations have dormitories attached, and the work is growing.

Lippincott's Magazine for February, 1894.

The complete novel in the February number of Lippincott's is "The Picture of Las Cruces," by Christian Reid. The scene is laid in Mexico, and chiefly in the ancient house of a noble family, where an American artist undergoes a curious experience.

Gilbert Parker's serial story, "The Trespasser," reaches its sixth chapter, and makes its hero acquainted with his uncle, who is the villain of the tale, and with sundry other factors in his new life.

"Dr Pennington's Country Practice," by Butler Munroe, is a lively and amusing story. "Dick," by George Grantham Bain, tells of an office-boy whose unobstrusive virtues wrought a reform among editors and reporters. "A House that Jack Built," by Philo Andrews Tucker, is a quaint sketch with a moral.

Champion Bissell contributes a careful and interesting "Study of Pawnbrokers." Alice Wellington Rollins writes on "The Science and the Art of Dramatic Expression." Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen tells us about "Norwegian Hospitality," and Charles Robinson about "Freaks."

In "Talks with the Trade," the question, "Have Young Writers a Chance?" is discussed.

The poetry of the number is by Martha T. Tyler, Mary McNeil Scott, Mary B. Dodge, Lillian Corbett Barnes, and Frank Dempster Sherman.

It not only relieves; it does more it cures. We refer to One Minute Cough Cure. Suitable for all ages, all conditions, at all times.—W. S. Rishton, Druggist.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Her Vaccination Mark.

IT WAS PAINFUL AND ALMOST SPOILED A WISHED FOR PROPOSAL.

From the Boston Traveler.

She was a very pretty girl, and his fate, and he was telling her so. She listened angelically, and by watching her left eyelid he knew he was successful.

The left eyelid is always a true indicator of a girl's feelings.

Finally he ventured to slip his arm about her, and it was all right for a minute, when she sprang to her feet with anguish on her face.

"How can you?" she sobbed. "Brute!"

"My own," he protested.

"Go!" she wept. "I can never love you! You have no heart, no tenderness; you are inhuman!"

"What have I done?" cried the miserable young man, and then she lifted her streaming eyes.

"You have no regard for my vaccination at all," she said. "Oh, how it hurts!" So he was obliged to finish his proposal minus the encircling-arm act. He isn't the only man in a like plight just now.

It is probably not the coldest weather you ever knew in your life: but that is how you feel just now. because past sufferings are soon forgotten, and because your blood needs the enriching, invigorating influence of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the Superior Medicine.

A glowing immagination is of value to the poet and novelist; it is of little use, however, in business. Fact in trade must take the place of fancy if success is to be obtained. Business must have a solid foundation, otherwise no progress can be obtained. Arithmetic is an important factor. The agent or merchant who neglects figures neglects a most essential point. Mere conjecture and surmise are poor elements in business, when everything should proceed on the principle of cause and effect. Theory must be reduced to practice, and practice the undeviating method established, as the result of cool calculation. Romance and the multiplication table never agree, as fancy profits are always larger than actual gains. Too often are men lured into outside speculation through the idea of large profits. In imagination they are rich already. They discount the future at the very beginning, and plan for ease and comfort on the visions of a speedy fortune

It is quite a familiar illustration to represent the distance of the stars in terms of the light-year, but it has not been noticed that the same figures which express in years the time light occupies in reaching the earth from a star will also express in miles the distance of the star upon a scale of the radius vector of the terrestrial orbit to the inch. The illustration appears useful, as it gives, perhaps, a more distinct idea of the isolation of the solar system in space than can be otherwise obtained, and does not introduce the question of time into the measurement of distance. Thus, if the annual parallax of 61 Cygni is assumed to be 7.434, which is probably very nearly correct, it will take 7½ (7.464) years for its light to reach the earth, and 7½ (7.499) miles will represent the distance of this star on a scale that gives one inch to the distance of the sun from the earth.

How do you do when you buy shoes or clothing? Don't you go to the place (if you can find it) where they tell you that you may wear the articles out, and then, if you're not satisfied, they'll refund the money? Why not do the same when you buy medicine?

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is sold on that plan. It's the only blood purifier so certain and effective that it can be guaranteed to benefit or cure, in every case, or you have your money back.

It's not like the ordinary spring or sarsaparillas. All the year round, it cleanses, builds up, and invigorates the system. If you're bilious, rundown, or dyspeptic, or have any blood-taint, nothing can equal it as a remedy.

Self-Defense.

From the Detroit Free Press.

The boarder on the top floor was before the Court for assault and battery.

"Why," asked the Judge, "did you strike the man?"

"I did it in self-defense, your Honor."

"I self-defence? Why, the testimony shows you went into his room, next to yours, where he was playing the piano, and struck him with a club. Is it true?"

"Yes, your Honor."

"And do you call that self-defense?"

"Certainly, your Honor, and so would you, if you had ever heard him play."

Rheumatism Cured in a Day.—"Mystic Cure" for Rheumatism and Neuralgia, radically cures in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious. It removes at once the cause and the disease immediately disappears. The first dose greatly benefits, 75 cts. Sold by C. A. Kleim, Druggist, Bloomsburg. 11-10-8m.

VIGOROUS HEALTH FOR MEN

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing

treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out, and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3.00 for one month; $5.00 for two months; $7.00 for three months.

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results. We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

STATE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress-at-Large.

JAMES DENTON HANCOCK,
of Venango County.

The report going the rounds of the newspapers to the effect that State Superintendent Schaeffer is in favor of compulsory education proves to be incorrect. In an interview recently he said: "There is no use to talk about compulsory education in the cities until an exact school census is taken and we find out just where we stand. "I shall probably ask the next Legislature to provide the way for such a census to be secured. I am inclined to favor a plan similar to the one in vogue in Massachusetts, which allows the School Directors to provide conveyances to take the children of sparsely settled regions to school."

F. V. Rockafellow, the Wilkes-Barre banker, who was convicted of embezzlement, was sentenced last week to pay a fine of $1250 and undergo imprisonment in the Eastern Penitentiary for a term of two years and two months. Judge Lynch in imposed sentence, said that he had due consideration for the age of the prisoner, he being past 70 years, and had made the sentence as light as possible. After the sentence was pronounced Rockafellow sat with bowed head, and wept bitterly; he was then taken to the jail and placed in a cell. Later a dispatch came from the Supreme court in Philadelphia granting the special allocutur and admitting him to bail in the sum of $5,000. His attorney, John T. Lenahan, became his bondsman and he was released from jail. The bail holds good until April, when the Supreme Court will decide the petition for a new trial. Mr. Rockafellow spent much of his time in jail reading the papers. The peculiar part of the case is that Mr. Rockafellow never revealed what became of the $400,000 of the depositor's money.

The Department of Public Instruction, at Harrisburg, will ask the next Legislature to increase the minimum school term, which is six months. Some years since the minimum term was five months. The Department thinks that the time has come to make it seven months. The fact that twelve other states surpass our own in this respect would seem to be a good reason for making the increase. The generous appropriations for school purposes show a determination on the part of the old "Keystone State" to keep her place among the leaders in educational matters, as well as in the development of her wonderful material resources. Indeed, without the former the latter must flag. It has come to be accepted as an axiom that the greatness of a nation is based upon a virtuous and enlightened people. The states surpassing Pennsylvania in the length of school term and the number of days in the respective terms, are as follows: New Jersey, 190 days; Rhode Island, 188 days; Maryland, 184 days; New York, 185 days; Connecticut, 182.3 days; Massachusetts, 171 days; Delaware, 180 days; Ohio, 165.5 days; California, 159 days; Wisconsin, 158.6 days; Michigan, 156 days; Iowa, 158 days.

Amended Ballot Law.

The attention of voters in Columbia county is called to the change that has been made in the ballot law in reference to the manner of filing nomination papers.

Last year the nomination papers for candidates for township and borough officers and election officers and school directors, were required to be filed with the township or borough auditors, whose duty it was to have the tickets printed and delivered to the election officers. Now the County Commissioners are required to have all tickets printed, and are held responsible for the safe delivery of the same to the election officers, either on Saturday or Monday before the day of election.

Section 5, of the amended ballot law reads as follows:

"Certificates of nomination and nomination papers for candidates for township and borough officers, and election officers and school directors in the same, shall be filed with the County Commissioners at least eighteen and fifteen days respectively before the day of election."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22, 1894

Chairman Wilson has surprised some people by the adroitness he has displayed in piloting his tariff bill through the amendment rocks. He has run aground but once—when the House voted down an amendment endorsed by the Ways and Means committee, proposing to postpone until next fall the time for the free wool clause of the bill to take effect and adopted one making that clause go in to effect upon the passage of the bill. This week the hardest fighting will be done. An attempt will be made to drop the sugar bounty, substituting a tax on sugar; also to drop the bounty, leaving sugar free. Attempts will also be made to put iron and coal on the dutiable list, and to make the income tax an amendment to the tariff bill. All of these changes are opposed by the Ways and Means committee, and chairman Wilson is confident that none of them will be made, although several of his colleagues on the committee are in doubt as to the sugar clause and the income tax amendment. It is understood that the republican vote will be cast solidly for the income tax amendment, not because they favor it, but because they believe its adoption will weaken the entire bill in the Senate. The republicans in the House are not voting on their convictions just now, but to develop democratic dissention.

Senator Morgan gave ex-Minister Stevens, who at last found time between his alleged bad health and his lecture engagements to appear before the Senate committee on Foreign Relations and give his testimony, a most rigid cross examination concerning his conduct while U. S. Minister to Hawaii, and brought out the acknowledgement that Mr. Stevens was from the first a rabid annexationist, and that he wrote those much talked about letters to Mr. Blaine, asking instructions in case of the overthrow of the queen, with the full expectation that such an event would take place during his term of office, just as Mr. Blount's report charged him with having done. Under ordinary circumstances the impudent and insulting letters written by President Dole of the provisional government to Minister Willis would arouse great public indignation, but what could be expected when publications in prominent United States papers are considered

Any sort of misrepresentation seems to go down with the anti-administration papers. For instance, Mr. Hasting, who was in charge of the Hawaiian legation here during Minister Thurston's absence, was not invited to the State dinner given by President and Mrs. Cleveland to the diplomatic corps, and straightway the anti-administration was unfriendly to the present Hawaiian government. An inquiry at the State Department, through which these invitations are always sent, would have shown the concoctors of these stories that Hastings did not fill an official position which entitled him to an invitation, but sensations, not facts, are what these papers want.

That Mrs. Cleveland has not lost any of her immense popularity with the people was shown by the large attendance at her first public reception, held at the White House Saturday afternoon. There were more people who desired to pay their respects to her than attended the crushes at the public receptions held by her when she was a bride, and she received them just as graciously as she did when the whole tiresome business was an enjoyable novelty to her.

A member of the cabinet who was asked what he thought of the adverse criticism publicly made by democrats in Congress of the proposed bond issue, said: "I grant the right of free speech which I demand for myself for every man, but I must say that these criticisms would have come with better grace had the men who indulge in them shown any real disposition to prevent the issue of bonds in the only practical manner—by providing the money that they knew as well as Secretary Carlisle did the Treasury must have if it would escape defaulting in the payment of its obligations, in some other way. The administration did not wish to issue bonds, and only decided to do so when it became apparent that Congress would not afford immediate relief, and after becoming fully satisfied of its legal right to do so under the law of 1875." It is not believed here that either of the several resolutions that have been introduced in the Senate concerning this issue of bonds will be passed, or that the passage of either of them or of Representative Bailey's resolution by the House would affect the matter in either way. The offers for the $50,000,000 bonds to be issued have gone away up in the hundreds of millions, and the premiums offered will make the interest equivalent to 2½ per cent. or lower.

Much regret is felt in the Senate at Senator Walthall's resignation, and the hope is expressed on all sides that his health will improve sufficiently for him to resume his seat at the beginning of the next term, to which he has already been elected.

The Man from Owonta.

WORKED THE BOGUS CHECK SCHEME ON A SUNBURIAN.

The wily confidence man was again at work in this city, and his latest victim is J. C. Culp, the Market street stove and tin merchant. On Friday morning a stranger called at his store to purchase some household goods. He said his name was Thomas Smith and that his home was in Owonta, N. Y. He was about fifty years old and wore a grand Army button. He told Mr. Culp that he was stopping at the Central Hotel and that he was going to work for the Pennsylvania company here. He expected to move his family here and wanted to rent a house. After a minute's inspection of Culp's stock he bought a range, a second hand heater and some cooking utensils. The bill amounted to $51. Then he and Mr. Culp went out to hunt a house. They met Jacob Bartholomew on the street and he rented to the genial Mr. Smith a house on Eighth street in East Sunbury. The three men went out to look at the house and everything in regard to it was satisfactorily arranged. No lease was signed. Culp and Smith returned to the store and Smith presented a check, drawn on the Owonta bank in his favor, for $92 as paymen of his bill. Culp said that he could not cash the check. Culp endorsed the check and Smith got it cashed at the Sunbury Trust and Safe Deposit bank. He returned to the store and paid Culp his $51. Smith sat around the store until noon, when he left and Culp hasn't seen him since. He said that he had been employed by the Delaware & Hudson company at Owonto. Culp took the stoves and utensils out to the rented house and they are there yet. There are two banks at Owonta and the check has not yet been returned. The statement of Smith in regard to getting a position on the Pennsylvania road was rather fishy, considering the number of suspensions Culp is of the opinion that the check is bogus, but says that Smith looked honest and acted honest. He did not stop at the Central Hotel while here. The police authorities at Williamsport and Harrisburg have been notified to arrest Mr. Smith.—Sunbury Democrat.

TOWN TOPICS,

The Journal of Society,

(32 PAGES.) NEW YORK. (THURSDAY.)

Is universally recognized as the most complete weekly journal in the world.

Its "Saunterings" columns are inimitable. Its society news, especially of the doings of the 400 of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, and all over the world, is not equalled by any newspaper. Its Financial Department is authority with all bankers and brokers. Its "Literary Show"—notes on current literature—is by the cleverest of reviewers. Its "Afield and Afloat" makes it the most interesting paper for all lovers of sport—yachting, football, rowing, shooting, fishing, etc. Its "On the Turf" excels all other racing notes. Its burlesques, poems and jokes are the cleverest. Its stories are by the best writers—among them Amélie Rives, F. Marion Crawford, Julian Hawthorne, Edgar Fawcett, Gilbert Parker, Mary J. Hawker ("Lanoe Falconer"), Barry Pain, Paul Bourget, Rudyard Kipling, Ambrose Bierce, etc., etc., and are, even if a trifle risqué, yet always clever, bright and pretty without coarseness or anything to offend the most refined and moral woman. In addition to all this there is each week a supplement, portrait, in colors, of some man eminent in his walk of life.

Tales From Town Topics

Quarterly, first day of March, June, September, December; 256 pages; 12mo. Contains in each number, in addition to short stories, poems, burlesques, etc., from the old issues of TOWN TOPICS, a complete, original prize story of 120 to 150 pages.

No one who enjoys the highest class of fiction, and would be au courant with all that pertains to good society, can afford to be without TOWN TOPICS every week. There is so much interesting reading in it and in the "Tales," that a club subscription to both will supply any family with abundant reading of the most entertaining character all the year.

THE TIMES

PHILADELPHIA

THIS MORNING?

THE TIMES is the most extensively circulated and widely read newspaper published in Pennsylvania. Its discussion of public men and public measures is in the interest of public integrity, honest government and prosperous industry, and it knows no party or personal allegiance in treating public issues. In the broadest and best sense a family and general newspaper.

THE TIMES aims to have the largest circulation by deserving it, and claims that it is unsurpassed in all the essentials of a great metropolitan newspaper. Specimen copies of any edition will be sent free to any one sending their address.

TERMS—DAILY, $3.00 per annum; $1.00 for four months; 30 cents per month; delivered by carriers for 6 cents per week. SUNDAY EDITION, twenty-four large, handsome pages—168 columns, elegantly illustrated, $2.00 per annum; 5 cents per copy. Daily and Sunday, $5 00 per annum; 50 cents per month. WEEKLY EDITION, 50 cents per annum.

EMERSON PIANOS

60 000 SOLD

THESE Instruments have enjoyed a high reputation for more than forty years. They are BRILLIANT and MUSICAL in Tone, and afford a most beautiful accompaniment to vocal music—the tone having that rare SYMPATHETIC QUALITY which blends admirably to the HUMAN VOICE.

They are DURABLE, being constructed of the DEST MATERIALS, by the MOST SKILLFUL WORKMEN. They have earned an especial reputation for KEEPING IN TUNE, and also for retaining in a most remarkable degree their original fulness of tone—never growing thin or wiry with age. The Company, through their agents, have received several FIRST PREMIUMS during the past few years, and their instruments have invariably taken high rank wherever exhibited.

TWO GIRLS WANTED.

Within a few years the field in which girls can earn their own living has been greatly enlarged. It is not an unusual thing now to find them setting type in printing offices, and they can do it quite as well as men. Two apprentices are needed in this office soon, and it has been decided to give the girls a chance. No heavy work will be required, and fair wages will be paid. Applicants can have an opportunity to give it a trial, and if not satisfied, can stop at any time. Call at this office, or address THE COLUMBIAN, Bloomsburg. 2t.

Rooster Claws for Finger Nails.

Frederick Stoya, an engineer at the Stuart & Patterson hollow ware manufactory at Burlington, N. J., who is replacing his finger nails with rooster claws, is confident he will be successful. The second and third fingers got under the sharp blade of the cutter and they were severed between the nail and the first joint. Dr. E. S. Lansing dressed the injury, but Stoya was not satisfied with the loss of two nails. He was a medical student in the Hanover College in Germany before he came to this country, nine years ago. He conceived the idea of grafting rooster's claws in the place of the missing nails. Fifteen days after receiving the injury he chopped the head off a Plymouth Rock rooster, and before life was extinct he cut off the claws. He washed them in carbolic acid, made an incision on his own fingers between the skin and flesh and inserted the claws with their fibrous ends. The graft was a success. In a month Stoya is confident the roosters claws will present every appearance of human finger nails.

In Memoriam.

Resolutions passed by the Bloomsburg High School, Jan. 18, 1894.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God in His wise providence to remove by death from our midst our beloved friend and school companion, Hervey V. Grotz, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we meekly submit and humbly bow to His will with Christian resignation, being again reminded that death does not visit only the old but "that the young may die."

Resolved, That although we mourn the loss of a cheerful school companion and a useful member of the Literary Society, we feel that our loss is his eternal gain.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with his bereaved parents and brother in their sad affliction and trust they may not view it as a sign of God's displeasure but as a mercy in calling from earth's sorrows one so young to enjoy the heavenly paradise.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in our town papers and a copy be sent to the mourning family and also copied in the minute book of the Lyceum Literary Society of which he was a member.

The Columbian Stamp.

Postmaster General Bissell has given his last order for the printing of the Columbian postage stamps known in the department as the "big Columbias." This order was for 160,000,000 and it completes the two thousand million contracted for by Mr. Wanamaker. The following circular has been sent to Postmasters in this connection:

Attention is invited to the following facts relative to Columbian stamps and envelopes:

First—They will be good for post age without limit of time.

Second—None to be furnished to postmasters after December 30th, 1893.

Third—these stamps have purposely been sent to postmasters without requisition from them and all requisitions have been filled with these stamps exclusively between November 18th and December 30th, 1893.

Fourth—The stamps so supplied must be kept for sale, as permission will not be given to return them or the Columbian envelopes for credit on the pretext that there is no sale for that particular issue. It is only by depleting their stock by sale that other stamps will be furnished.

All postmasters have been treated alike relative to this series of stamps and you can get no other until the supply of the Columbian is exhausted. And Chicago is to blame for all this too.

A QUESTION?

Often asked us by customers who come into our store, is, "How is it that you claim to have marked your Goods down so low during this of yours and what is your object in doing so?" Our Answer is given in a few words. The weather has been against us, Money is scarce and our piles of Winter Suits and Overcoats are too large for this time of the year. While we pride ourselves in receiving a liberal share of the clothing business of this county, yet, we feel as though we should do more. Our way of doing business, our good values, and our one price system, has worked wonders for us—doing as we do, more Clothing business than any two Clothing stores in the county combined. We're not content with having goods lay on our tables until next fall for the sake of making more profit; its not our business policy. That's where our comes in to relieve us, to reduce our stock, and we're doing it in right lively fashion. Never mind the profit—the money that we realize from our sales will make that. Come in to-day, to-morrow or Saturday, see what we can offer you in the way of an inducement.

Goods and Prices Talk.

THE WOMAN OF FASHION.

Some Very Pretty Conceits in Skirt Trimmings.

A Dainty Costume or Two for the Tea—Satin Bands and Ruffles — Fancy Dresses and the Prettiest of Them Described.

[COPYRIGHT, 1894.]

"And then there came a pause"—and it has come to us now. We have settled the winter fashions, but are scarcely ready to take up with the spring. In the interim, we can but turn our interest toward trimmings and furbelows. The modistes are vieing with each other in creating new forms of skirt decoration; some of which are odd to the verge of grotesqueness, while many more are charming and pretty.

I noted the decoration on the skirts that walked along fashionable Fifth avenue last Sunday morning. In one block I saw the following:

A fine, pale gray, with a double arrangement, one at the foot and one around the center of the skirt, of three tiny velvet ruffles of soft green; ashes-of-rose silk with a fine black satin stripe running through, and a dainty trimming of broad black insertion put on a few inches above the hem edged top and bottom with a full rose silk heading.

A most delicate fawn is worth describing in detail. She looked very pretty as she stepped from her carriage to attend a select "Sunday afternoon." The fawn was a very clear, light shade; and its skirt had two rows of flat ruffles of deep cream lace, tipped with narrow satin bands in pale azure. The hat was a broad, soft white, with a blue plush crown, very flat, with great white plumes at the side. A narrow blue rim rested on the hair beneath.

An exquisite visiting dress, seen at a tea the other afternoon, was of heavy white cloth. The overskirt fell over a sham skirt, the bottom of which was edged with deep maroon velvet. The overskirt fell in points, and was edged with marten sable. The bodice fitted without a visible wrinkle or a visible seam, hooking at the side. Just across the bust was laid a band of the maroon velvet, curving upward at the bottom, and edged with the sable. Full hip pieces of the velvet were added, and epaulets, in deep points, were likewise of the maroon sable-edged.

Fancy dress is at present in high favor. A very successful affair given last week displayed a number of quaint costumes. One young girl representing a butterfly wore a short, full skirt of yellow gauze. From each hip, falling down the sides, are bright points, butterfly-wing shape, embroidered in fantastic and numerous shades. Small butterflies are appliqued for a border about the bottom of the skirt. The bodice bretelles are embroidered like the wings of the skirt and fall in sharp points over the belt. Two high wings stand upon each shoulder, and one butterfly is laid in the center of the bust. The waist is cut low and a necklace encircles the throat. Even the tiny slippers have saucy butterflies perched at their tips, and three of them hold high carnival among her curls.

A particularly sweet young damsel—speaking literally—called herself Miss Comfit. She was overrun with the little confections. Her skirt, consisting of five short and very full ruffles, were embroidered with them in every conceivable bright shade, and from one hip fell a cornucopia, with which the wealth of confections embroidered behalf covered by white feather trimming. A short black velvet cape, jet-trimmed, formed a rich contrast with the delicacy of the dress.

A black and velvet figure was very charming. The black skirt had bands of broad grosgrain ribbon, edged above and below with a small roll of velvet bengaline. She wore a bunch of violets on her fur cape, tied with a mass of narrow purple ribbons.

A black skirt had no trimming in the back, and none just in front; but at low seemed to fall. A chemisette of white tulle, similarly embroidered, was added above an embroidered corsage of black velvet. The arms were covered with long black gloves; and there were no sleeves beyond three tulle ruffles around the arm-holes. She carried a trumpet in each hand, from which she freely gave of her sweetened substance. Five small cornucopias were arranged about her head in fantastic fashion.

EVA A. SCHUBERT.

Perhaps it Was the Grip.

From Texas Siftings.

Georgie comes down to breakfast with a swollen visage. Whereupon mamma says to the little four year old:

"Why, Georgie, darling, don't you feel well? Tell mamma what is the matter."

Georgie (full of influenza), replies: "No, I don't feel well. Bofe of my eyes is leakin' and one of my noses doesn't go."

The blood cleansing qualities of Ayer's Sarsaparilla render it invaluable in skin disorders.

It seems probable that the Fine Arts Building at Jackson Park will either have to be remodeled or reconstructed entirely before it can be used as the Field Columbian Museum. As the result of an inspection by fire underwriters the insurance has been raised, and the announcement is made that the building is not a fit receptacle for the valuable exhibits, which will aggregate fully $3,000,000 in value.

Under a recent law in California the local banks published a list of unclaimed deposits, with the result that many people learn for the first time of neglected wealth belonging to them One woman, who has since married a second time, discovers that her first husband had $26.661 on deposit which he had never told her. Another family whose members were in desperate straits learns of a deposit of a husband and father now deceased of $600.

Catarrh in the Head

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood, and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many very severe cases of catarrh. Catarrh oftentimes leads to consumption. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is too late.

Hood's Pills do not purge, pain or gripe, but act promptly, easily and efficiently. 25c.

Facts Worth Knowing.

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powders or astringents, because they are irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned as worse than failures A multitude of persons who had for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh inflict testify to radical and permanent cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm. Your druggist has it.

The law requires Albany saloons to close at a certain hour. The excuse of one violator, charged with keeping open all night, was that his brother had gone out of town, taking the keys with him, and he could not lock up.

WOUNDS OF TREES.

Mixtures for Covering Them Cheaply and Safely.

It often happens that, either by intention, as in pruning, or by accident, trees are wounded in various ways. A common practice is to cover large wounds with coal tar; but this is objected to by some as injurious to the tree. Experiments made in the orchards and gardens of the Pomological Institute, at Ruthlegen, in Germany, go to show, however, that its true use is not injurious; but that, on the contrary, a callous readily forms under the tar, on the edges of the wound, and that the wounded part is thus protected from decay. There is, nevertheless, another objection, for if the tar is applied a little too thick the sun melts it and it runs down on the bark of the tree. This can be obviated by mixing and stirring and thus incorporating with the tar about three or four times its weight of powdered slate, known as slate-flour—the mixture being also known as plastic slate and used for roofing purposes. It is easily applied with an old knife or flat stick, and though it hardens on the surface, it remains soft and elastic underneath. The heat of the sun does not melt it, nor does the coldest winter weather cause it to crack—neither does it peel off.

The same mixture is also useful for other purposes in the garden. Leaky water-pots, barrels, pails, gutters, sashes, etc., can be easily repaired with it, and much annoyance and loss of time be thus avoided. It will stick to any surface, provided it be not oily; and as it does not harden when kept in a mass it is always ready for use. A gallon will last for a long time.

A most excellent preparation for small wounds and for grafting is thus prepared: Melt a pound of rosin over a slow fire. When melted take it from the fire and add two ounces of balsam of fir (Canada balsam), or two ounces of Venice turpentine (not spirits of turpentine), stirring it constantly. As soon as it is cool enough mix in four to six ounces of alcohol of 95 degrees strength—according to the season—until it is as thick as molasses. It keeps well in close-corked bottles for a long time. Should it become too thick by the gradual evaporation of the alcohol it is easily thinned by putting the bottle in warm water and stirring in sufficient alcohol to bring it to a proper fluidity. It is applied with a brush.

This preparation is much better than liquid grafting wax composed of rosin, beef tallow and spirits of turpentine, which often granulates. If there be any danger that the cions will dry up by evaporation they may, beneficially, be brushed over with this composition, it being first made more fluid by adding alcohol. By this means I succeeded, in February of last year, in grafting a single eye of Aegle Sepinaria upon a lemon tree, in a dry sitting-room, without the use of any glass covering.

A Suggestion for Drainage.

A Missouri farmer relates an experience which offers suggestions which, while they may not be exactly new, may have for many great practical value. There were upon his farm several depressions which in wet seasons held ponds of water. To drain these by ordinary means would have been very expensive, because no gravel could be got near the farm, and there was no tile factory in that vicinity. Open ditches were out of the question. The services of an expert well-borer were secured. He sank several test shafts in various parts of the farm, and found that the underlying ground was a tenacious blue clay, fourteen to sixteen feet thick, and almost perfectly impervious. Beneath this was found a strata of white sand. The well-borer and his machine were placed in a wagon, which by means of a long rope was hauled to the deepest parts of a pond about an acre in extent. Here he bored a well down to the sand, completing the operation before sunset of the day when the work began. In thirty-six hours the water had disappeared and the pond was dry. To make this short perpendicular drain permanent he had it cleared of sediment, sunk the shaft about two feet into the bed of sand, and filled to the top with clean, coarse gravel from a creek bed. The gravel was heaped about a foot above the shaft to strain the water properly that the shaft might not become choked.

There are thousands of places in the West where, year after year, farmers have plowed around such wet spots, giving them up to the possession of rushes and frogs. Yet they could be drained easily by a few hours' work. In western Michigan a large swamp lay for years on the southern edge of a village, a noisome barrier to progress and a bone of contention in village and township politics. To drain it a large ditch a mile or two long would have been required, but some one, fortunately, discovered that a thin sheet of clay was all that kept the water from sinking down into a deep strata of gravel, boulders and sand. The wells were sunk and the swamp thoroughly drained at an almost nominal cost, leaving rich black soil, which is the most productive and valuable in all that district. There may be thousands of similar swamps, where two or three days spent in sinking test shafts would show a ready means for converting sloughs and swamps into fields of wonderful fertility.

Storing Roots.

A writer in the "Nebraska Farmer" says: "We always find turnips put in the cellar become pithy and worthless. My method is to obviate this, and I do it in this way: When I pull my turnips I cut off the top way down close to the turnip, cut deep enough to cut out the eye out; then cut the root off both ends nice, and you have them in a condition to place in a cool part of the cellar, or to bury out in open ground, and you need have no fear of your turnips. Beets should be buried out of doors, with manure over the pile so the ground will not freeze. In this way you can get at them any time in the winter. A part of the parsnip crop should be in the fall; they may be put in the cellar; no matter if they freeze, they are so much the sweeter."

Paint for One Cent a Pound.

One gallon of soft hot water add two pounds sulphate of zinc (crude). When dissolve perfectly, and a sediment will settle at the bottom. Turn off clear solution into another vessel. Add one gallon of paint (dead and oil) and one gallon of the compound. Stir the paint slowly for ten or fifteen minutes, and the compound and paint will perfectly combine. If too thick thin it with turpentine.

HANK GOOD'S CRIME AND FORFEIT.

A Choctaw Indian who Gave His Life Without a Sign of Fear.

Capt. Frank Williams of the Texas Rangers, who passed through the city last night on his way to New York, gives an excellent account of the remarkable execution of Hank Good, a thoroughbred Choctaw Indian, which occurred September 25 in the Choctaw reservation.

"I never dreamed I was going to see one of the bravest acts I ever witnessed in my life when I went to see Hank Good shot," Capt. Williams said. "I was in the reservation when Hank committed the murder for which he gave up his life, and I had a great curiosity to see how he would act when the time came for him to pay the penalty.

"The murder Hank committed occurred February 9, 1893. Two whiskey peddlers, named Isaac Greenbaum and Solomon Heppenstein, were the victims. They had been in the habit of stealing into the reservation about once a month and selling whiskey to the Indians. On this particular night they entered the territory with two small casks of whiskey. Hank saw them when he came in, and he then and there determined to get his fill of fire water that night or know the reason why. He watched them and followed them to a lonely place, where they secured their whiskey, wrapped their blankets around them and went to sleep. When they were slumbering soundly he stole upon them, and it could not have taken him long to relieve them of their scalps. He found the whiskey, drank to his heart's content, and enjoyed the warmth of the fire the peddlers had built. Hank made no attempt to escape or conceal his crime, but remained there and drank until he was stupid. About 10 o'clock the next morning, as I was passing along the road with a squad of the White Horse, we came upon the horrible sight. Hank was lying across the dead bodies of his victims and one of the whiskey casks was clasped in his arms. We tried to arouse him, but could not, and had to carry him to the headquarters of the reservation. They locked Hank up, and it was three days before he was sober enough to be arraigned before the Indian Judge and jury.

"On the third day after the murder Hank was brought up for trial. Hank made no defense. He did not seem to feel sorry, either, for having committed the crime. It was the first time in his life that he had had enough whiskey. The jury soon decided that Hank was guilty and should be shot. It took into consideration the fact that Hank was the most popular and best looking young buck in the nation, and recommended him to the mercy of the Judge. The Judge finally sentenced him to be shot to death at noon, September 25. Hank took an oath to appear at that hour under a big oak tree and pay the penalty. They then allowed him to depart."

"Were they afraid he would never return?"

"Not in the least. A full-blooded Choctaw was never known to break his oath."

"Well," Capt. Williams continued, "Hank did not leave the nation, but three days afterwards he got married and commenced to work as hard to get land and horses as a man who expected to live fifty years. In a few months he was one of the most prosperous young men in the tribe and lived apparently happy.

"The months slowly passed, and as the time drew near for Hank to be shot the Indians commenced to get excited. They were all anxious to see how he would act. Hank never referred to the matter and kept on working up to the day before the one which was to be his last on earth.

"The fatal morning at last arrived. It was a holiday on the reservation, and long before noon all the members of the nation were in the vicinity of the big oak tree, dressed in all the finery they could command. Hank was on the scene early, arrayed in his best, and an hour before his execution he danced with all the squaws. He never glanced at the pine coffin on which he was to kneel and be killed.

"Exactly at noon he left his family, and, with head erect and a smile upon his face, he walked to the coffin and knelt upon the lid. The Sheriff had not yet arrived, but Hank was there and waiting. The Sheriff finally came, and, walking over to Hank, he started to bind a white cloth around Hank's eyes. Hank tore it off, and motioned the Sheriff back. You should have seen the Indians look at him. Every one admired his nerve.

"The Sheriff stepped back several feet, drew his revolver, and took deliberate aim. Hank smiled and glanced down the glistening barrel without moving a muscle. In another second the Sheriff fired and a ball crashed into Hank's brain, directly between the eyes. He quivered a second, and fell over dead into the coffin."

"What became of Hank's wife?"

"Oh, she married a good-looking young buck the next day."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

He Detested Brag.

What the late Prof. Jowett, of Oxford, was least tolerant of was pretentiousness and shallow conceit. The reputation for extreme latitudinarianism that the fame of his early trial for heresy had attached to his name sometimes made foolish young men seek to curry favor with him by extravagant protestations of agnosticism. One self-satisfied undergraduate, who had a thin smattering of all the heathen philosophies, and fancied, like many of his age, that he had made the original discovery that all the world's dolls were full of sawdust, met the master in the "Quad" one day, and having entered into conversation with him, continued to pace up and down by his side. "Master," he said after a pause, "I have searched everywhere in all philosophies, ancient and modern, and nowhere do I find the evidence of a God." "Mr. ——," replied the master, after a shorter pause than usual, "if you don't find a God by 5 o'clock this afternoon you must leave this college." If Dr. Jowett had really believed in the young man's professions of "philosophic doubt" as being anything but puppyish brag, he would have spent hours of valuable time in kindly and reasonable talk with him.

Epps's Cocoa

BREAKFAST-SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Interesting Items From Various Points in the County, Reported by Our Staff of Correspondents

FORKS.

Mr. Poust living a small ways above Benton, visited Forks recently and during his stay there, some foul miscreant stole into the stable and shaved off the tail of his horse, and cut to shreds the lining and top of his buggy. Such a man should be chained to a rock in mid ocean and let the vultures feed on his vitals. He would be fixed like old Prometheus.

The public installation of officers of G. A. R. at Orangeville last Saturday night was very interesting. The Post realized quite a handsome sum from the sale of oysters. The Post return thanks to the public for their liberal patronage.

Capt. Gara is laid up again with a sore leg, but will soon be convalescent.

E. M. Laubach killed three fine porkers on last Monday. He has some of the finest breeds of swine to be found in the country and his "Chester whites" find ready sale. He is doing a large amount of pump-making notwithstanding some other parties have been trying to thrive off his reputation as pumpmaker. This however, never lasts long when the public get to understand the game.

The prize contest at Zion church came off on Saturday night last. Daisy McHenry won the silver medal. The contest was well sustained by the declaimers evincing good culture and ability. The true way, however, is all to speak the one piece and then take into consideration experience and age, as well as culture and ability.

The wire bridge is becoming a reality. Before another issue of THE COLUMBIAN we will have the bridge, judging from present prospects. Mr. Geisinger and sons are putting it up.

Father Zaner is coming out all right from the effects of the removal of the cancer.

After a four week's sickness, Mack Robbins is able to be around again. He had a serious time of it

Our school has been closed for a pair of weeks, owing to measles. Commenced again last Monday.

The total weight of the three hogs of E. M. Laubach was 1200. The sow over 400 lbs.

The measles are taking on a mild form here among the children. They are sick only a day or two, their faces soon get smooth, and they are about again. But it is hard work to run a career of first class health this soft January. The only way to keep alive is to stay up nights and watch for your coffin to come in the front door at early dawn the next morning.

Wm. Nevin Ale and Wm. Pennington are two of the first class butchers in our community. There is common sense in everything, and all science is based on common sense; but when it comes to translating swine into pork, and alarcity and skill and leaving the meat in first class condition. Nevin Ale & Penington meet with slim competition anywhere.

WALLER.

Miss Laubach of Benton, was the guest of the Misses Hirleman Sunday.

The caucus for the nomination of township officers was very largely attended here on Saturday. Among the nominations are Messrs. Frank Yorks and Edward Sones for Supervisors, Z. A. Butt and W. L. Yorks, for asst. assessors, Jacob Hirleman and James Shultz, school directors. All nominations seem to be generally admitted as the best but there may be some independent candidates. The republicans united with the democrats and will not have special candidates.

The good people of Unityville somewhat surprised Rev. Minsker Saturday, by a large number bringing him an abundant supply of the necessaries of life. They do not believe in doing things by halves, if we may judge from their generosity, for they came with four horse loads, two horses and singly, all apparently endeavoring to make the most of the adage it is more blessed to give than to receive.

Rev. Mr. Womeldorf, of Bloomsburg, preached at this place on Sunday, it being quarterly meeting of the Evangelical church. His sermon was listened to with marked attention and was clearly and fluently delivered.

Mr. George Yorks of Divide, and Miss Mary Savage of Nescopeck were united to become as one in the bonds of matrimony on Saturday, at the bride's parents. Returning to his home they were given an old fashion serenade Tuesday evening.

Mr. Eves of Millville has recently placed two organs in the houses of Divide. Rev. Henry Wagner and W. L. Yorks Esq., have each purchased an instrument to make life more musical.

LIGHT STREET.

Rev. Wolmsdorf of Bloomsburg in company with a lady missionary from Japan held services in the Evangelical church on Monday night, where the customs of the Japanese were related.

Thos. Scott and daughter of Tyrone are visiting at Mr. and Mrs. John Harding's.

A party was given on Saturday last at the residence of John Wardin in honor of the birth of their daughter Ella. It was a genuine surprise.

H. P. Rauch of Scranton visited friends in town last week.

Mrs. Vanhorn of Millville is visiting at Mrs. Chas. H. Lee's.

Hiram Geiger of near Scranton visited his sister Mrs. A. F. Terwilliger on Sunday.

A party was given on Thursday night last by Mrs R. M. Ent in honor of the birthday of her husband.

Joseph White and wife of Buckhorn spent a short time visiting on Monday. Rumor says he will locate here in the future.

DANGER

It's a Sign of Danger, when pimples, blotches and eruptions appear on the skin, no matter how slight. It warns you that your blood isn't pure. Heed the warning while there is yet time; clear up your system and purify the blood by taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It rouses every organ into natural action, purifies and enriches the blood and through it cleanses and invigorates the whole system. It attacks all scrofulous, skin and scalp diseases in the right way—by purifying the blood.

The diseases that it cures come from a torpid liver, or from impure blood. For everything of this nature, it is the only guaranteed remedy.

In Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Biliousness; all Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections, even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula) in its earlier stages—if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

THE MAKERS of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will pay you $500 if they can't give you a complete and permanent cure.

The World Almanac

It's all the same, a slight cold, congested lungs or severe cough. One Minute Cough Cure banishes them.—W. S. Rishton, Druggist.

"When I was a Boy,"

Writes Postmaster J. C. WOODSON, Forest Hill, W. Va., "I had a bronchial trouble of such a persistent and stubborn character, that the doctor pronounced it incurable with ordinary medicines, and advised me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I did so, and one bottle cured me. For the last fifteen years, I have used this preparation with good effect whenever I take and I know of numbers of people who keep it in the house all the time, not considering it safe to be without it."

"I have been using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for 30 years, with the most satisfactory results, and can cheerfully recommend it as being especially adapted to all pulmonary complaints. I have, for many years, made pulmonary and other medicines a special study, and I have come to the conclusion that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral occupies a position pre-eminent over other medicines of the class."—Chas. Davenport, Dover, N. J.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Report of Teachers' Institute for Orange, Fishingcreek, Mt. Pleasant, and Centre school districts, held at Orangeville, Jan. 20, 1894.

Institute was called to order at 10 A. M. by Prof. Kratz. The following teachers were present: Orange, Prof. Kratz, Mr. Hidlay, Mr. Lutz, Mr. Henrie, Miss Moyer, Miss Fister. Fishingcreek, Miss Hassert, Miss Zarr, Miss Hattie Edgar. Mt. Pleasant, Miss Moyer, Mr. Kline. Centre, Miss Kellam. Pine, Miss Alice Laubach. Greenwood, Miss Moyer, Mr. Bardo.

The Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Straub. Recitation by Maud Neyhard. Song by four little girls from Miss Moyer's school. How to create a taste for good literature for little folks by Miss Fister. Teach biography as you would teach geography. Choose selections in which the pictures are plain. Have each member of a class memorize a selection and thus have the exercises prepared for Friday afternoon. If a desire is cultivated in school for good reading, the demand will be for good reading at home.

Recitation by Freddie Dietrich. "How the big boy tried to whip the teacher," Gertie Dietrich. Music; Help it On.

Talk on culture by S. B. Lutz. We must have a sound body if we want a sound mind Therefore, we must cultivate physical culture. Perception must be cultivated. Have pupils look at objects then write about them. Memory can be cultivated by having pupils memorize prose or selections of poetry. History is imaginary; when we see a picture of a battle we imagine the events as real. We learn to think by thinking. Attention can be cultivated by having the pupil reproduce problems or long sentences. The subject being opened, remarks were made by Supt. Johnston, Rev. Straub, Mr. Hidlay and Mr. Henrie.

Address by Prof. Noetling. Education should not be secured at the expense of health. Have rooms well lighted, for health depends on light to a certain degree. Good common sense is the best medicine to take at all times. We spend too much time on arithmetic. Pupils should have acquired a knowledge of arithmetic at the age of 13. They will then have acquired knowledge enough to be able to help themselves. Grammar should be dropped at the age of 13 Pupils should study grammar one year. Make the English language the main thing, using the helps which can be had. Why should pupils begin to read at the age of 6 and continue to read until they quit school? Make a reading exercise of all classes. All writing should be done well whether in a copy book or on slates or tablets. Adjourned.

1:30 P. M.

Music, "To the work." Recitation, Miss Anna Kline. Song by Quartette.

Address on moral culture, Rev. Houtz. Knowledge on education is a power. Every teacher should be a moral teacher. Every school director and school officer should be a moral person. Every teacher should not be afraid to read a chapter before his school. The text books should be stamped with morality. Our schools owe their existence to the church. Therefore the school should take time to teach morality.

Music. Recitation, Myrtie Henrie. Recitation, Geraldine Conner. Singing, "The lonely Cottage by the Sea side." Essay, The successful teacher, Miss Hassert. Any teacher who teaches for money alone will fail. The successful teacher studies his pupil's nature, as the pupils do their books. By the failures or successes of others, we profit.

Prof. Noetling, remarks on morality. Every teacher should be a christian and urge the children to become good men and women. There is no class of people who work harder or more faithful than the successful teacher. Have more language in school and less grammar. Do not use the spelling books. Learn to spell all the words you use and as you use them. You will then not spend time in learning words which you will not use. As the world moves we must move with it.

Irregular attendance; Prof. Kratz. The fault is with teacher, pupils, or parents. Consultations with parents should be more frequent.

Remarks by Mr. Thomas McHenry. A great neglect is that a certain class of pupils of school age are not in school. This is a waste of school funds. Our taxes are compulsary. Therefore compulsary attendance would not be more arbitrary. Supt. Johnston says, "have long terms where they will attend regular. Have terms as long as will be properly used.

Address by Miss Pitts; How to read well. Recitation. Music; Quartette.

Address Supt. Johnston. A good beginning means a good ending. Always begin right. Never start to school late. A teacher should enter school right every morning, that is with the best and surest notions. Always be yourself and own yourself.

A vote of thanks was then extended to Supt. Johnston, Prof. Noetling, Rev. Houtz, Rev. Straub, and all others who so kindly aided in making the institute a success and the institute adjourned.

DR. KILMER'S

SWAMP-ROOT

CURED ME.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—"I desire to tell you just how I was, so that the public may know of your wonderful Swamp-Root. Two years ago last October I had spells of vomiting; I could not keep anything in my stomach; the Doctor said I had consumption of the stomach and bowels; continued to run down in weight; I was reduced to 60 lbs. I would vomit blood, and at one time as much as three pints; we had two of the best Physicians and they said my case was hopeless. "Oh, my sufferings were terrible." A neighbor told us of your Swamp-Root, and my husband got a bottle; I took it to please him. I used six bottles of Swamp-Root and I am now nearly as well as ever. I weigh 108 lbs., do my own work and take care of my baby. Every one says, I was raised from the dead, and many will not believe that I am still living until they come and see me, and then they can't believe their own eyes, I am looking so well." Very gratefully.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTYN, D. D., New York City.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., 125th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.
